Pianist Elizabeth Vaughan Earns Second-Place Honors at Regional Competition

Posted on: January 16th, 2014 by Rick Peterson

Lawrence University's Elizabeth Vaughan placed second in the recent (Jan. 11) Music Teachers National Association (MTNA) East Central Piano Division competition held at Baldwin-Wallace College in Ohio.

Elizabeth Vaughan '15

Vaughan, a junior from Highland Park, Ill., is only the second Lawrence pianist to finish first or second in the Young Artist (19-26 years of age) category in the MTNA's five-state regional competition. She performed works by Bach, Chopin, Liszt and Scriabin. Majoring in both piano performance and vocal performance, she studies in the studios of Catherine Kautsky and Joanne Bozeman, respectively.

Vaughan qualified for the regional competition by winning the 2013 MTNA Wisconsin state competition last October.

The MTNA performance competitions provide educational experiences for students and teachers and recognize exceptionally talented young artists in their pursuit of musical excellence.
